THE UGLY TRUTH ABOUT ENDOMETRIOSIS

We asked women suffering from endometriosis to draw a picture showing what the disease felt like to them. The illustration you see here was created by one of those women.

For her and millions like her, endometriosis is an ongoing struggle with chronic pain, frustration, and fatigue. And as you well know, there is no cure. But there is hope.

The Endometriosis Association is a nonprofit organization of women with endometriosis, medical professionals such as yourself, and others interested in exchanging information and promoting research on the disease. We also provide emotional support and understanding for those afflicted with endometriosis.

Above all, we let women know they are not alone. For more information on how we can help you and your patients and for information on our extensive educational resources, please contact us.
